Dedication

James Bertram Collip: 1892-1965

Many millions of people throughout the world owe their lives, and many millions more their longevity to the major medical discoveries and varied scientific research of James Bertram Collip, who died on June 19, 1965.

As a young man in 1921, Dr. Collip, in experiments with Sir Frederick Banting, patented insulin for use throughout the world. There followed over forty years of singular achievements in the fields of Biochemistry, Physiology, and Endocrinology, both in research and education.

Dr. Collip became Dean of the Faculty of Medicine and Professor and Head of the Department of Medical Research at the University of Western Ontario in 1947. He proved himself to be a kind but critical professor who demanded of others the excellence he gave of himself. Dr. Collip was an inspiring scientist and also a warm and sensitive man, who modestly bore his tributes from many universities and numerous international scientific and medical societies.

This University shares with the world the loss of a beloved and deeply devoted man, a friend to many, and a doctor who enriched medical science and the welfare of all people.

"OCCIDENTALIA"

To My Fellow Students:

February 1966.

In planning the 1966 Occidentalia, we have tried to incorporate a few innovations into the basic quality of last year's book along with a light touch of humour. The Oxy welcomes the College of Science and Althouse College of Education which will be represented for the first time in this year's book.

The aim of the Oxy is to provide, through photographic coverage of the year, a means whereby we can recall the good and carefree times of our college days; times which, we are told, contain the happiest days of our lives. Although this book is designed for the graduates, I believe all students will find it enjoyable.

To produce a book of this size requires a large, hard working staff: a staff willing to skip the odd class in order to meet a deadline. I have enjoyed working with my entire staff and appreciate the full cooperation they have given me. I hope they have enjoyed themselves as much as I have. A special thanks goes to my hard working photographers and, in particular, to Lyle McNair who worked much harder than he should have.

Success is many things to many people. Therefore, I take this opportunity to wish each of you success in the way that is important to you.

Sincerely,

Jim Callaghan

Chancellor's Message

You young men and women who this year will graduate into the business and professional life of our society, must set a course you wish to follow, and in so doing, must give deep thought to the standards you intend to uphold.

We live in a period of economic and social revolution, or is it an accelerated evolution, due perhaps to the rapidity of communication, a speeding up of national and international emancipation.

You, who by your education, hold the opportunity to be great as constructive leaders of your community, have upon your shoulders the burden of the responsibility of guiding the way to our social destiny. This burden will grow heavier as you grow older.

If your ideals are high, you should recognize amongst other things, that you owe to your profession, your calling or your employer a loyalty of support. If you cannot subscribe to this support, and find your views are unalterably incompatible with those with whom you are associated, then the honourable course to follow is to so declare the fact and retire from whatever position in which you find yourself.

V. P. Cronyn,
Chancellor.

President's Message

Graduation is an important and exciting milestone in the life of a student. It represents an achievement about which you have a right to be proud. Success will be easier because of your university education but only if you realize that there is much of value to learn after you leave this university.

The complex problems of this rapidly changing world will present the graduates of 1966 with greater challenges, and opportunities, than ever before. A considerable percentage of this year's class will be employed eventually in occupations that have not been thought of by even the most advanced minds of the present generation. I hope you will meet these challenges with patience, vigour, and dedication.

I welcome you to the distinguished fraternity of Western Alumni and I wish for each of you a happy and rewarding life in the years ahead.

Valedictory Address

As we the graduating class of 1966 take our leave of Western, we reminisce about the days we have spent on this campus and attempt to anticipate the challenge which will confront us as we enter this constantly changing world. For some, this challenge is exciting and welcomed; for others, it is hedged in uncertainty and hesitation; but for all, it is something which must be faced and overcome.

We have been called the fortunate ones, those who have been able to obtain a higher education. Although this phrase is often misused and criticized, its basic message is very true. During our years at Western we have been exposed to intellectual, social, and extra-curricular elements which through their various interactions have attempted to mature each one of us and make us a more worldly-wise and intelligent human being. We have been confronted with principles and ideas with which we may or may not have agreed; we have participated in extra-curricular activities in which we have been both a winner and a loser; and we have been thrown into the mixed-up social order of today's society and in it found happiness and heartache. On the basis of these experiences and our own basic beliefs we attempt to meet the challenge confronting us.

Our world today is as exciting and dynamic as ever in history and we have an opportunity to participate in it. In our few years at Western we have seen tremendous advances in space exploration and medicine; we have witnessed the social chaos between the negro and the white in North America and Africa; and we have realized that we are far from world peace when we have such areas as South East Asia and Berlin. We will soon be a part of their world which is neither static nor content, and if we are to succeed we must make full use of the talents with which we have been endowed.

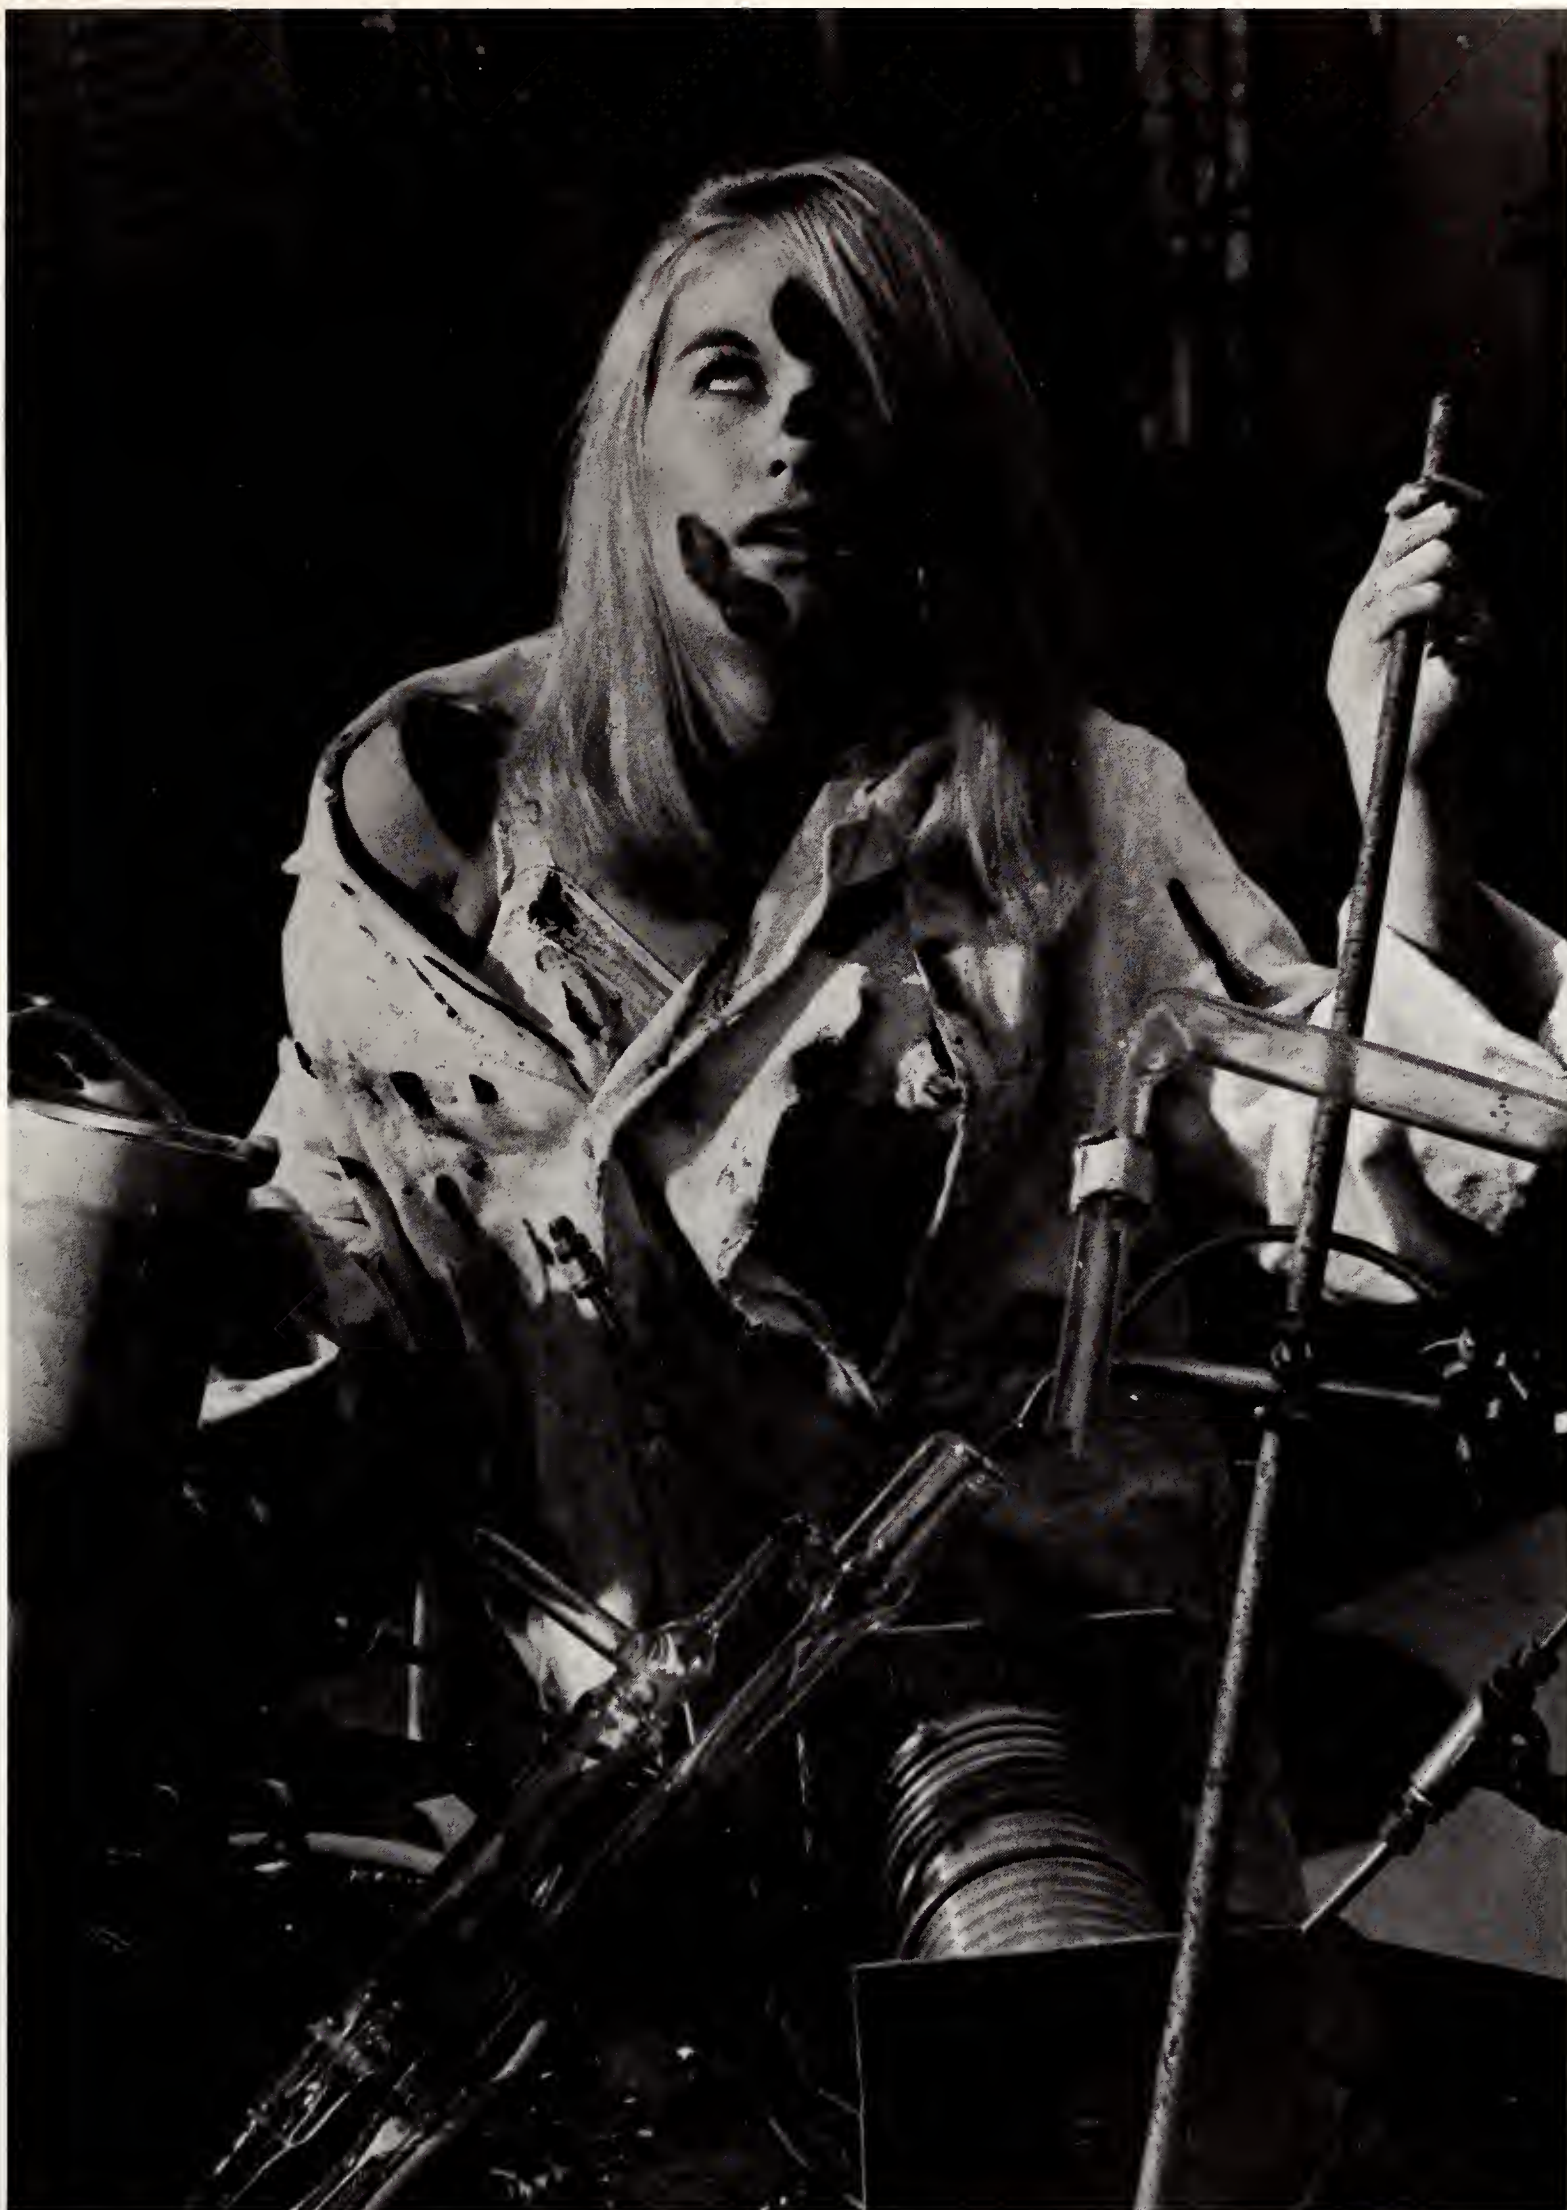

We must remember that our education is not concluded but rather only beginning. Life itself and the experiences associated with it are a lesson. As well, some of us will go on to post graduate work and many will have to return to school or take summer and refresher courses if they are to keep up to date in their knowledge of new ideas and techniques and not be left behind in the backwaters of education.

A man's reach should exceed his grasp,
Or what's a heaven for?

As students we have often been critical and have condemned institutions, ideas, and philosophies knowing we were relatively immune from repercussions since we were students. However, now we become an integral part of the community and must bear a responsibility which comes with this position. Our criticisms and objections must be based on concrete evidence, but if we truly believe in these differences, then it is up to us to put our words and thoughts into action and attempt to procure a change providing it is for the betterment of the community as a whole and not just the individual. We are the leaders of tomorrow whether or not we wish to accept the role, and as such, we must try and make this world a better place for all mankind. This is not an easy challenge, and it will not be won by some great movement but rather by the sum of the individual efforts of people like you and I doing the common everyday chores but doing them well and with integrity and conviction.

All the teaching and education we have gone through over the years will be wasted unless there is that inner motivating force in each of us. "What lies behind or before us is not as important as what lies within us." Good luck to you all in whatever endeavours you undertake.

David Girvan.

University Students' Council

During the past year the University Students' Council has been going through a year of 'technical internal adjustment'. Reorganization into a corporate body has required us to assume greater responsibilities, which has led us to set up a wholly new Centralized Accounting Service and to hire a full-time Business Manager to supervise the $124,000 budget. The Council offices now operate on a full-time basis and provides a sound base for future expansion, and will free Council members from routine administration to attend more to matters of policy.

Highlights of the year have been the very close attention to the severe shortage of desirable housing for students; a successful seminar to draw students' attention to the problems of racial discrimination; and efforts to strengthen and extend theatrical, musical and dramatic events on campus.

At both the national and provincial level, the Canadian Union of Students has continued to expand its programme into fields as varied as international student athletics and government aid to higher education. The new provincial secretariat of C.U.S. will give students a strong lobby at Queen's Park. The Council has been active in both these areas.

Serving one's fellow students as an elected representative is the highest honour one could wish. I would like to thank very sincerely all those who have served with me on Council this year: although the task is demanding the rewards are great and the experience is invaluable. I encourage those who are remaining at Western to take a close interest in their student government, and my sincerest good wishes go to those who are graduating.

In the temple garden
 Spring month green . . .
 Incense ancient, but hung with SOLITUDE
 I found amongst the jasmine
 An EXOTIC blossom
 Fragrant and white petal
 Perfuming soft spring showers,
 Seeping to that fertile earth, warm . . .
 I heard whispers of the Orient
 and saw a white LOTUS
 I believe Buddha nourished,

What price education?

It is beyond price! Education cannot be bought, borrowed, or inherited. The only way to obtain it, is to earn it. Stelco recognizes its value, and the increasing need for it, in today's highly-competitive atmosphere . . . and also recognizes that specialized education is denied to many deserving young Canadians through lack of funds. This is why Stelco sponsors a program of assistance to universities, technical schools, and students across Canada, by providing awards, scholarships and bursaries in Technology, Engineering, Science, Business Administration, Teaching, Commerce, and Finance.

For further information on this program, or on a career in steel, write to Stelco's Head office in Hamilton, Ontario.

Whatever became of:

Cleo Patra,
CLASS OF '49?

Voted by her year "The Girl We'd Most Like To Barge Down The Nile With", Miss Patra majored in Herpetology and was a leading light in our Drama Group. On graduation, Cleo first did a brother-sister act with her younger brother Ptolemy. For Ptolemy the bell ptolled shortly thereafter. She then played the Capitol with Julius Caesar in The Pharoah Queen — but that production did not survive bad notices and the Ides of March. She next undertook a spectacular with Marc Antony and a cast of thousands of other fellahs, but the rigours of the big battle scene at Actium was too much for Antony. Cleo then, turning to her first love — Herpetology — discovered the asp — and vice versa.

Welcome new Alumni! Congratulations on your matriculation from Western, and welcome to the brotherhood of over twenty thousand of your fellow alumni.

Since your arrival here, you have been regarded as members of the Alumni Association. Now, as you graduate, it is my hope that you will take up active and enthusiastic participation in the affairs of this Association.

The business of the Alumni Association is conducted by your Alumni Council which has representation across the country and from all faculties of the University. An Alumni office is maintained on campus, and through its auspices, the Alumni Association keeps in touch with all Alumni. A magazine of news, The Alumni Gazette, will be mailed to you regularly during the year.

You are welcome to visit the Alumni office, at any time, and you are urged to maintain close communication with your Alumni Council when you leave the campus.

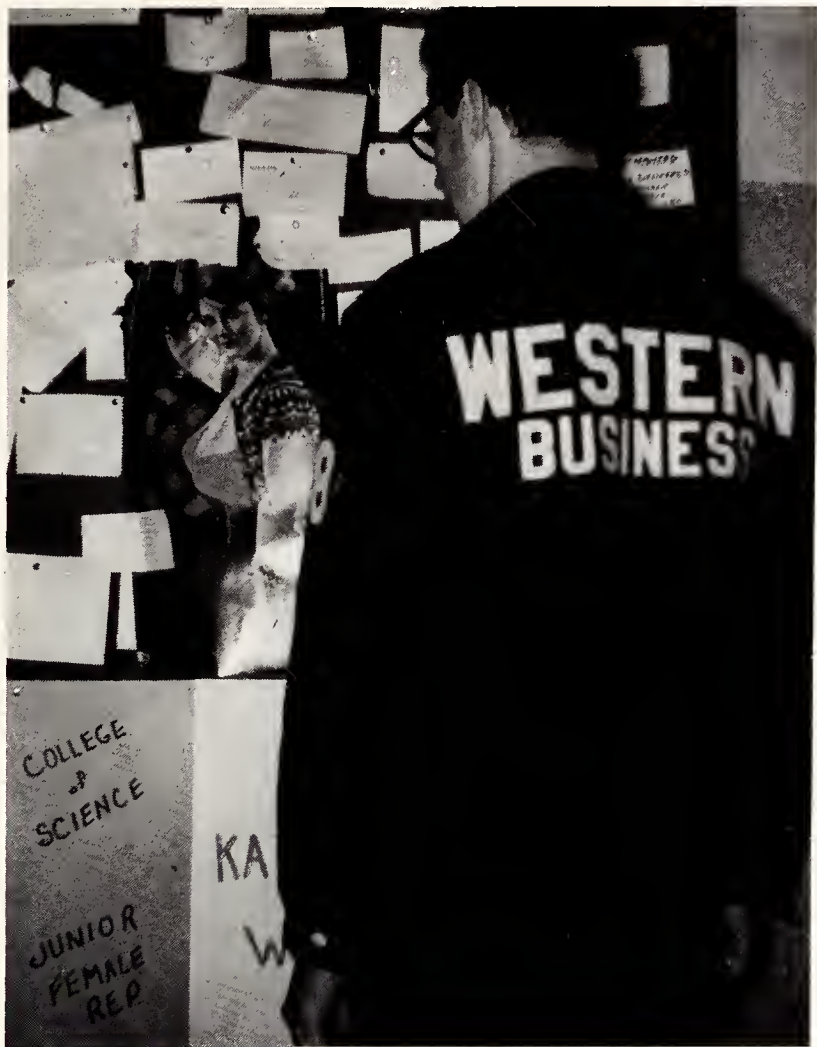

By doing so, you will have begun your new career as an active and valuable alumnus. In this way, your maturity, your experience and your wisdom will continue to influence the growth and development of this University.
